

THURSDAY
OCT
07
7PM

BOOK LAUNCH

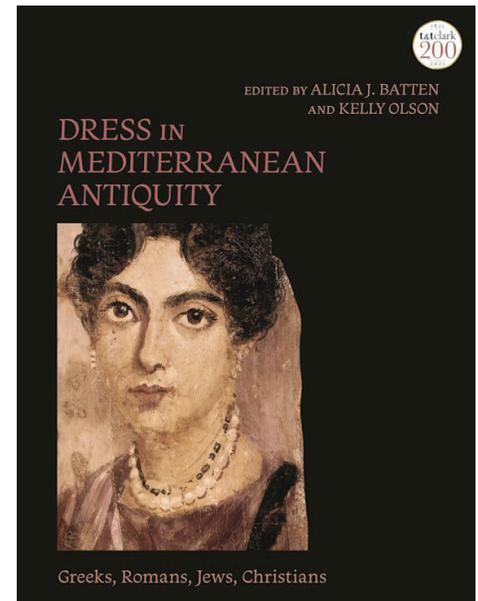

Dress in Mediterranean
Antiquity: Greeks, Romans,
Jews, Christians

CO-EDITED BY ALICIA J. BATTEN AND KELLY OLSON

Celebrate the launch of Alicia J. Batten and Kelly Olson's recent co-edited collection of essays that brings together scholarship from a variety of disciplinary backgrounds. Some of the contributions explore different methods used to study dress, both historically and today, while others examine either the various types of material evidence that survive for the study of dress in antiquity, or the meanings of dress in a range of ancient Mediterranean contexts.

This virtual event includes reflections from anthology contributors and follow up Q&A.

Published by Bloomsbury/T&T Clark

FREE | REGISTRATION REQUIRED

Register for this virtual event at grebel.ca/events

Conrad Grebel
University College

UNIVERSITY OF WATERLOO

Department of Religious Studies

Western
Arts & Humanities
The Department of Classical Studies