Now it's time to gather information about your plans to continue QI activities. Zoom in on each aspect and make it as straightforward as possible.

While working on this document, make sure to keep the concepts simple and easy to explain. The questions below are meant to guide and inspire; feel free to add questions to make the worksheet your own.

WHO

Who needs to get involved?
Who could make a difference?
Who will train others about QI?

WHAT

What support is required from leaders?
What other organizations could benefit from QI?
What QI tools will you use?
What is your definition of success?

WHERE

Where are there new opportunities to embrace QI in your organization?
Where else could QI be implemented?
Where can you find resources to support QI?

WHEN

When should you use PDSAs in your organization?
When will you use QI in your day-to-day work?
When is the right time to orient to new staff to QI?
When will you meet to continue your QI journey?

WHY

Why are some ideas for change working, and others are not?

HOW

How will you identify and prioritize your new ideas for change?
How will you develop new PDSAs based on your new ideas for change?
How will you keep momentum going?
