

BARROCO NOVA – Neo-Baroque Moves in Contemporary Art presents a range of work by contemporary artists who rely on exciting appeals to our senses as a means to comment on our remarkable and sometimes troubled times. Organized by curators Susan Edelstein and Patrick Mahon, this three-venue exhibition includes sculpture, photography, video, and installation works which demonstrate divergent responses to changing ideas about identity, to new attitudes towards the corporeal, and to urban space within our entertainment-oriented and media-charged world.

Exhibition Dates: Artlab Gallery: October 14-December 16, 2011
McIntosh Gallery: September 30-December 17, 2011
Museum London: October 8-January 1, 2012

GALA OPENING – Friday October 14, 2011 with FREE Shuttle Bus

McIntosh Gallery 5 - 6:30 pm
Artlab Gallery 6 - 7:30 pm
Museum London 7:30 - 10 pm

Upcoming visit by internationally-acclaimed film/photography artist Mark Lewis.
Public lecture: Thursday, October 20 – 7:00 pm VAC room 100.
Watch for more details.

Jason Hallows, the first candidate in the project-based stream of the PhD in Art and Visual Culture, has successfully completed his degree.
Congratulations Jason!

Sarah Bassnett's article: "Shooting Immigrants: Ethnic Difference in Early Twentieth-Century Press Photography," has been published in the new anthology The Cultural Work of Photography in Canada, ed. Carol Payne and Andrea Kunard. Montreal: McGill-Queen's University Press, 2011.

Art in the Public Sphere – Speakers' Series presents:

Sabine Bitter and Helmut Weber, visual artists.
Thursday, October 6 at 8:00 pm in VAC room 100.

Rhonda Wepler and Trevor Mahovsky, sculpture/installation artists.
Thursday, October 13 at 8:00 pm in VAC room 100.

All welcome to attend.

Upcoming Events

OGS deadline -
Tuesday, October 11

Barroco-Nova Exhibition
Gala Opening October 14
see opposite for more details

SSHRC deadline -
Monday, October 17

Mark Lewis
film/photography artist
October 20 – 7:00 pm

Graduate Thesis Research
Award deadline -
November 1